

Support the Fraser Headwaters Alliance

Who is the Fraser Headwaters Alliance Anyway?

The Fraser Headwaters Alliance is a grassroots conservation organization based in the Robson Valley. Since its inception in 1988, FHA has been working to promote economic and ecological sustainability in the Fraser Headwaters Region (a bioregion that encompasses the Canoe and Robson River Valleys). Our mission statement is to “maintain and restore ecosystem health and to support ecologically sustainable human communities and economies in the Fraser headwaters bioregion”.

We are a registered non-profit society under the BC Societies Act and are currently applying for registered charity status under the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency. We are a member of the Forest Stewardship Council, the Federation of Mountain Clubs of BC, Hike BC, Hike Canada en Marche, the Land Trust Alliance of BC and are active participants with the Yellowstone to Yukon Conservation Initiative.

What does the Fraser Headwaters do?

The Fraser Headwaters Alliance is committed to promoting conservation of undeveloped wilderness areas and areas of unique biological value within the Headwaters region of the Fraser River basin.

This mandate is accomplished through conservation advocacy (including participating in government consultations and other public processes and establishing trail systems), ecosystem restoration (such as riverbank restoration and information dissemination on restoration opportunities for landowners), ecosystem-based land use planning, promoting economic diversification and encouraging private land conservation within the headwaters region.

How can you help?

Become a member or make a donation:

The Fraser Headwaters Alliance has supportive members all over the world with the common interest in maintaining ecological integrity in the Fraser Headwaters Bioregion. As a member of The Fraser Headwaters Alliance you will be involved with developing and implementing a strategy of economic transition for the Robson Valley, with creating and maintaining backcountry trails through some of the most pristine wilderness areas of BC's central-interior, with developing innovative projects to educate and promote eco-friendly tourism and sustainable management of the natural resources of Robson and Canoe Valleys.

What do you receive with your membership or donation?

You will receive bi-annual editions of the Headwater Headlines to keep you up to date with the accomplishments of your member dollars and the issues that require your help. Letters and contributions to the Headlines are always welcome.

You can become even more involved by signing on to our email list and receive current updates and learn of opportunities to take action.
